

AEEQ NEWS

The last quarter of the year has been full of intense scientific activity in AEEQ. In Cáceres, the Conference with the motto "Solvent Surgical Nurses" was held, in which topics such as the Information and Communication Technologies or the humanization in the operating room were approached.

In Barcelona on November 16th and 17th, the theme of the Robotic Surgical Nursing Conference was "Embracing technology while continuing to care". It had 2 sessions, the first theoretical of the different surgical specialties and workshops and a second one from the University, with live connection to the operating room of the Hospital Clínic (Barcelona), where a cardiac robotic surgery was performed.

It has had a high participation of nurses from all over Spain and a high content of the scientific program in which it is worth mentioning the unanimous opinion of the necessary training of the operating room nurse to take care of the patient safely, in the adaptation to new techniques.

On November 25, the 7th Surgical Nursing Conference of the Community of Madrid was held. The different hospitals participated in the event and the most innovative experiences were presented. It is worth mentioning the impact of the inaugural conference entitled Artificial Intelligence in Surgical Nursing.
